

Report on the Regional Seminar for the Nano-Satellite Mission Idea Contest

Date: 17 Sep 2010 (Friday)

Venue: Building N7 (Rm 1501), Korea Advanced Institute of Science and Technology

Time: 15.00 – 16.30 pm

The regional seminar on Mission Idea Contest using Nano-Satellites was held on September 17, 2010 at Korea Advanced Institute of Science and Technology. There were about 20 participants who attended the seminar. Graduate students, professors, research engineers from Satellite Technology Research Center, and engineers from a local company gathered together. Not only the MIC, but also recent world-wide activities on Nano-Satellites were shared with audience in the Seminar. Most participants expressed their special interest in the program despite some technical challenges that they may face in submitting the proposal to the contest. It was not clear how many teams will apply for the MIC, but some positive prospect was felt after the Seminar.
