

The MIC seminar in Spain took place the 7th of September of 2010 in the Telecommunications Faculty of the University of Vigo in a very a very interesting way. The attendants (more than 30) received with enthusiasm the mission idea contest. More than questions, the attendant gave comments about their interest to generate MIC proposals.

The MIC Spanish seminar was attended locally by academicians, reserachers and postgraduate students of the University of Vigo and Madrid and many other trough the online streaming accesible using the following link <http://tv.uvigo.es/directo>. More than 10 institutions outside Spain were following the presentation trough the on-line streaming.

The result of the seminar was successful in the sense that few proposals were commented which will evolve into National and International proposals.

Finally, 6 proposals from Spain have been presented to the MIC.
